Safety and Mission Success feedback available on Web site

Safety and Mission Success Week feedback from Marshall team members is available at the "SMS" link on "Inside Marshall." The feedback was gathered after team members were asked last November to read the Columbia Accident Investigation Board report and submit corrective-action suggestions. More than 1,700 submissions were received. Dr. Jan Davis, director of Marshall's Safety and Mission Assurance Office, is leading a team that is addressing items with centerwide applicability. Each Marshall organization also will develop corrective action plans.

Workplace diversity briefings to be scheduled during March

Diversity in the Workplace Briefings will be scheduled Agency-wide during March to raise awareness of equal opportunity and affirmative action, as well as to establish the "business case" for diversity. The briefings will set the stage for the upcoming Diversity Strategic Implementation Plan. "The Workplace Diversity Briefings represent an important step in promoting the One NASA initiative," said Dr. Dorothy Hayden-Watkins, NASA assistant administrator for Equal Opportunity Programs.
